

Fresh Action Planned

Ottawa Considering New Rigid Controls of Labor

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, May 4.—Sharply rising demand for manpower in industry and agriculture has created a deepening crisis in manpower supply that in some respects exceeds any previous problem of this kind since the war started. Inter-departmental conferences are tackling the problem this week and fresh action involving rigid priority and control of labor is in the offing.

Awarded D.S.O.

The citation said that 19,000 workers could be used immediately in selected areas of severe manpower shortage as based on official employment offices reports. Against this demand, number of workers referred to vacancies recently has been 35,000, leaving a net demand of 155,000. But this is merely a minimum figure, and the demand for labor has been rising sharply since February.

This critical situation has been observed to some extent in problems by demands for conscription of forced labor beheading of another. It has attracted attention on the military manpower situation while considering the labor department estimates this week. Reliable sources, contacted yesterday, stand very positive opinion that military manpower requirements can be met by means being used.

WOMEN JOINT JOBS

One factor in the manpower crisis has been a steady drift of women out of the home.

Cmdr. H. G. de Wolf, of Halifax who led a destroyer force which sank one German destroyer and forced a German destroyer to English Channel actions last week, was announced today.

The citation said Cmdr. de Wolf, who directed from the bridge of H.M.C.S. Haida during the famous battles received the award "for leadership and gallantry as senior officer."

The Haida joined with her sister ships, the Canadian Tribal class destroyer Ashanti and the British cruiser Black Prince in the destruction of a German destroyer last Wednesday. One of her sister ships, the German ship was sunk at the western end of the English Channel.

Within three days the Ashaba-kan was sunk and the Haida not only figured in the rescue of survivors but quickly avenged the loss of her sister ship by forcing the German ship to be beached in flames.

Pension Age

Of 65 Years

QUEBEC, May 4.—(CP)—

Premier Gendreau announced in the legislative assembly yesterday that the provincial government had started negotiations with the federal government with view to having the age for the start of old age pensions

reduced from 70

to 65.

There are about 50,000 old age pensioners in Quebec province.

The federal government contributes 75 per cent of the monthly cost of the pension, the provincial government pays the remainder.

MUST CO-OPERATE

The premier said that it was "necessary for the province to work in co-operation with federal authorities to bring about a change in the pension law which cannot do more than recommend that the Old Age

Pensions Act be amended.

Mr. Gendreau made the statement while speaking on a motion of Francis Legault, (L—Que) asking that the assembly "consider the advisability of reducing the pension age to 65."

U.S. Economic Plan Rapped At I.L.O. Meet

By SIGRID ARNE
PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—(AP)—The International Labor Conference heard hours of criticism yesterday of the American draft for a world economic policy, led by J. A. Beasley, Australian minister of supply, who said the plan was a mere "lip service" to principles of full employment and economic advancement for the peoples of the world.

The argument went on in the United Nations committee meeting to decide the degree to which L. O. will collaborate in economic policy for raising living standards of workers. Most of the criticism was to the effect that the American

SOCIAL OBJECTIONS

The proposals asked that the 41 countries represented here agree that the following "should be the social objectives of international policy"—opportunity for regular employment; minimum employment standards which will provide adequate diet, housing and medical care; and insurance against unemployment and sickness.

Beasley said: "The American draft looks at first sight to be an employment agreement. But it asks in fact no firm commitments, except one relating to the gathering of statistics. The collection of statistics can not cure unemployment. The draft does not even include a government pledge to maintain full employment."

But when Beasley said, "It also denies the workers the right of collective bargaining," Carter Goodrich, adviser to the United States government delegation, rose immediately to say: "Mr. Beasley has been reading the newspapers since his arrival. He should have no difficulty in knowing the position of the government on protecting the right of collective bargaining."

Goodrich added: "The United States is perfectly willing to recast the language of its proposal to prevent all misunderstanding."

New Alberta Welfare Department Draws Important Task

Will Administer Total Nine Provincial Acts Including Leading Social Legislation

Administration of nine government Acts, formerly under jurisdiction of the provincial department of health, have been transferred to jurisdiction of the new department of public welfare, it was learned Thursday.

The changes have been necessitated by expansion of the government's welfare activities, and the recent formation of a public welfare department. The Affairs of Soldiers and their dependents will be one of major items to receive attention of welfare officials.

The nine acts concerned are: The Bureau of Public Welfare Act; The Metropolitan Betterment Act; The Child Welfare Act; The Children of Unmarried Parents Act; Part 7 of the Domestic Relations Act; The Relief Liability Act; Sections 43, 44 and 45, the Improvement Districts Act; and the Unemployment Relief Act.

At the last session of the legislature, the new public welfare department was created. It was explained at the time that this branch under a minister and deputy, would take over administration of all welfare legislation.

Non. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, took the added portfolio of public welfare minister. A. McKeenize was named deputy minister and Charles B. Hill, child welfare superintendent.

The five-year period of agreement will replace a system of yearly contract, extended for 12 months at expiration date. The original was signed on June 1, 1938, and it has been given yearly extensions ever since. The latest extension expires May 31 next.

Amendments making possible a five-year contract with the senior government for R.C.M.P. services were passed at the last session of the legislature.

At the time the legislation was under discussion, it was pointed out by the government that the R.C.M.P. would be a larger contract period before it would install certain equipment for service in Alberta. Among items of equipment mentioned were two-way radio communication installations.

The government appropriated $225,000 for the 1944-45 fiscal year in payment for police by the Mounted Police.

Y's Men's Club Talks Finances

Y's Men's Club members at their meeting Tuesday night, discussed ways and means of raising club funds.

Among suggestions was one by Gordon McGilley whereby they would contract to dig gardens and perform other such thing over the fees to the club.

A committee was appointed under the chairmanship of John Denison to prepare a list of contracts.

The government suggested the possibility of running a "white elephant sale" at which articles would be sold that are no longer of use to members.

Alberta Plans To Renew Pact With "Mounties"

Empowering Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general to make a five-year agreement with the Dominion government for policing of Alberta by the R.C.M.P., an order-in-council has been passed by the provincial government.

The five-year period of agreement will replace a system of yearly contract, extended for 12 months at expiration date. The original was signed on June 1, 1938, and it has been given yearly extensions ever since. The latest extension expires May 31 next.

Amendments making possible a five-year contract with the senior government for R.C.M.P. services were passed at the last session of the legislature.

At the time the legislation was under discussion, it was pointed out by the government that the R.C.M.P. would be a larger contract period before it would install certain equipment for service in Alberta. Among items of equipment mentioned were two-way radio communication installations.

The government appropriated $225,000 for the 1944-45 fiscal year in payment for police by the Mounted Police.

Y's Men's Club Talks Finances

Y's Men's Club members at their meeting Tuesday night, discussed ways and means of raising club funds.

Among suggestions was one by Gordon McGilley whereby they would contract to dig gardens and perform other such thing over the fees to the club.

A committee was appointed under the chairmanship of John Denison to prepare a list of contracts.

The government suggested the possibility of running a "white elephant sale" at which articles would be sold that are no longer of use to members.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

To Marry for Meal Ticket is Catastrophe

Wife Who Insists Upon Turning Pocketbook Has Death Grip That Will Turn Husband Against Her

And Make Life Miserable

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man in my twenties, a very capable chap, and my girl friend has a very bad disposition and never misses an opportunity to show her authority. I have just gotten a written proposal from her saying that if I will marry her she will bring home the bacon and buy me all the good clothes I can wear. I have been looking for a chance like this, but I suspect that your opinion as to whether I can depend on her or not. But you know how fickle girls are, what with men's brains rationed the way they are in war time.

THE PETERBORO FLASH.

Answer: Well I am afraid you would be a fish in the pan if you made that sort of a marriage, and that you had better cook up something that would have more chances of lasting. To begin with, the man who marries for a meal ticket makes a bargain that he spends the balance of his life regretting for he parts with his independence and his self-respect and becomes nothing but a slave to the woman who has bought him.

You may think that you would like to do nothing but sit around and do nothing, and have money to spend, and to play around and have a good time. But you would find that no labor is so wearing as standing attendance at the pocketbook of a woman who expects you to pay for your board and clothes by running her errands, and that the wife holds the pocketbook has a death grip on it and dolo out the pennies, and she will never get to play around among the glamorous girls and show off the good clothes she has bought you.

No money can pay a man for having to live with a wife he has to be a slave to her. So your advice to you is not to try it. Brace up and make a man and make your own living, instead of trying to rely it.

WIFE'S LOVE.

Dear Miss Dix: Can a wife love her husband too much? I am married to a Canadian who is overseas now. I write to him every day and tell him how much I love him and how I long for the day of his return, and he replies with letters that tell me that he loves me through. But people tell me that it doesn't pay to love a husband too much, and that he will use you for him. Am I right? Or are they right?

PUEBLO WIFE.

Answer: You are right. Send your husband a little bit of your heart every day. Nothing is more important to a man than to know that his wife is not only keeping up his morale, but also keeps him faithful to him. A wife who loves her husband too much is not only keeping up his morale, but also keeps him faithful to him. A wife who loves her husband too much is not only keeping up his morale, but also keeps him faithful to him.

The greatest appeal that a woman ever has to a man is her love. Thousands of men marry women they didn't want to marry because they couldn't say "no" to the women who loved them. And thousands of men stick to the women they married because they cannot bear to let one who has given them a life's devotion. It takes a lot of nerve to say "no" to the woman that clings to you.

LOVES DAUGHTER.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am desperate need of help. I married a widow who has a daughter by a former marriage who is 18 years old. I have fallen in love with this girl who lives with me and I tell my wife and divorce her. Or shall I desert them both? JOE.

Answer: Why don't you just tell her you love her and let her go? I would think that a fox hole somewhere in the jungles would be a peaceful and pleasant place to live in and none more difficult to solve. For either way there is bound to be heartache for one, probably for all three of you who are so fantastically involved.

Holland's general death rate increased from 86 per 1,000 population in 1929 to 95 in 1942.

THESE WOMEN!

By ALICE BROOKS

That form of rheumatism called muscular rheumatism by the layman referred to as fibrositis by the doctor. Fibrositis means an inflammation of fibrous tissue, which lies between the bundles of muscular tissue. When the fibrous tissue is inflamed, this produces the soreness and pain in the muscles affected which are the chief symptoms of this patient's condition.

The patient suffering from muscular rheumatism is easily led to believe that most of the trouble lies in the muscles, however, it is not the case as rheumatism has a constitutional cause. When the primary cause is established, then comparatively trivial causes such as overexertion of the muscles, exposure to cold or to damp may serve as exciting causes leading to the attack. The cold or damp weather will produce a temporary slowing up of the circulation in some particular part and the circulatory system will then be painful, stiff or sore because of the accumulation of rheumatic toxins in that area, due to the sluggish circulation. Cold, damp, or overexertion are simply external causes and have the power to induce an attack only when the fundamental toxic condition exists.

Fibrositis may attack the muscles of any part of the body, but it is more common among men than women, and is known as an acute and chronic form. The symptoms vary according to whether the disease is acute or chronic but as a general rule the acute attacks are more severe than the chronic ones. The patient may have more or less permanent muscular disability results. In the acute attacks the pain in the muscles may be very intense and the patient may make every effort to keep from moving the affected muscles. In the chronic form the painful sensation may be noticeable only when the patient attempts to move the muscles and at other times may be subsiding or quite absent. The patient will notice that he feels worse as soon as he becomes cold. The patient with muscular rheumatism is possible and will bring the fire, if left to his own devices.

In the treatment of muscular rheumatism, I find that the fast taken at the start will obtain the best possible results. As during the fast the blood chemistry will be adjusted close to the normal. During the time, the body will cleanse itself of the irritating substances which have accumulated and which produce soreness, stiffness and lameness when localized in muscular tissue. Usually the pain in the muscles will leave after two or three days of the fast. The regimen if the patient is having an attack, which has lasted for a longer time may be required to secure results but even so the good effect of the fast cannot be overestimated. During the fast it is important that the patient secure an extra diet.

Following the fast, the greatest benefit will be secured if the patient uses a diet consisting of leafy green vegetables for several days. After this time a well-balanced diet may be used and the patient is given a moderate amount of meat-cooked vegetables and salad, but is advised to use only the minimum amount of butter, oil, sugar, or to avoid these altogether for a time.

The use of heat is of value in securing relief from the pain of muscular rheumatism. Heat may immerse the body twice a day in a tub of hot water to which has been added a handful of Epsom salt. On the hot water bottle may be used, or the electric pad, etc. However, it is well to remember that such relief is temporary and that for permanent relief, reliance must be placed on removing the systemic cause.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large quantities of material enclosed must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters need not exceed 150 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, West 63 Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

MY DAY

NEW YORK—Yesterday morning I spent a few minutes in a small club which is visited by members of the Allied forces passing through this country. It is run in connection with a small book shop on Park Avenue. Because it is so small, there is personal contact possible which makes it more homelike. Rooms are found for the men if they spend the night in New York. I think they must often find their hosts friendly people who try to make them comfortable.

I was pleased to see this club, because it is the kind of thing that I saw being done for our men by Australian and New Zealand women, and I like to think that their boys go home after having had a contact with some of the homes of our people here.

After a short meeting, I took a train to Poughkeepsie where I had a little luncheon and then I went to the Poughkeepsie high school for a parent-teacher meeting. I was very interested in what they have been discussing the need for a youth center in Poughkeepsie.

It is interesting to find that the people in this country are increasingly becoming interested in the welfare of children, both for small children and the older young people. There was a time when we thought the home, the school and the church were the only places where the young people were concerned with young people, and one was expected to take an interest only in his own young people. Now there has been developed a community that has not only an interest, but a responsibility, in our modern and complicated civilization, for all the young people in the country.

Whether to start child care centers for young people depends on the interest of the young people themselves and the need that their parents and the community have. Opportunities for recreation are not plentiful, I think we will find these centers springing up in private homes, in rooms in existing organizations, or in buildings sponsored by the community. It is because of the need and the young people's enthusiasm we have to be plainly demonstrated.

You may have heard the radio talk given by Miss Dorothy Thompson on a Sunday night some weeks ago, in which she said that she had a responsibility for child care. She particularly spoke of the school lunch program. This program, of course, grew out of a real need. We found that children from other European countries found out long ago, that the school lunch program was a value from the point of view of good health for the child in the home. I hope this program will grow until every child in the country has a school lunch for his children.

DUMB BELLS

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR KADDOX

Here are made meat sandwich recipes for the worker's lunch box. Be sure to include fresh fruit or cold fruit juice in a thermos bottle.

DEVILED HAM AND PEANUT SANDWICHES

One-half cup deviled ham, 1/4 cup peanut butter, 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing, spread between bread slices.

Bologna and Deviled Egg Sandwiches

(Serves 4)

Four hard-boiled eggs, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon grated onion, 1/4 teaspoon mustard, salt and pepper, 1 pound bologna, 8 slices bread.

Chop eggs; add mayonnaise or salad dressing, vinegar, onion and mustard; season with salt and pepper. Slice bologna; place sliced bologna on 1/2 the bread slices; spread with dressing and top with remaining bread slices.

VIENNA SAUSAGE AND CHEESE BUNS

(Serves 4)

Chinese Film Actress Tells Of Activities

Anna May Wong, Chinese movie picture star from Hollywood, talks with pride of her "old brother," Sgt. Richard H. Wong, U.S. army, whom she calls "Toughy," he's stationed in England.

"You may remember seeing him in Stagecoach Canteen," she said. "He played the part of the Chinese cook."

Miss Wong, who is in Edmonton with a troupe of U.S.O. entertainers, talked with reporters in an informal interview at a War Relocation Council luncheon Wednesday.

Born in Los Angeles, she said her family have been Americans for two generations. She visited China in 1936 and said she believes moving pictures will be a great post-war industry there.

Asked how the Chinese in Hollywood liked the idea of portraying Japs on the screen, Miss Wong said: "At first they didn't care for the idea but now they like to portray them as evil as possible."

"A most ironical thing happened," she continued, "in 'The Yellow Peril' picture I portrayed the villain and a Japanese actor, who was very prominent at that time, appeared as the Chinese detective who tracked me down."

The actress has spent several years in England, where she made a number of pictures, and would like very much to "go back there right now."

CHINESE STYLE GOWN
Tall and very slim, she was dressed in a Chinese style gown of black silk, with touches of white lace. Her hair style is a combination of the oriental "bang" and the American "long bob."

Her hobbies include cooking Chinese food, of which she is very fond, and gardening at her home in Santa Monica. "It takes me two days to mow the lawn," she said, "and then about three hours to go to the links out."

Miss Wong hopes to be able to visit the Chinese colony while she is here, and said she is very proud of the fine contributions the Chinese everywhere are making to the war effort.

"Y" Circus Show Opens Thursday
A two-day circus show "Under the Big Top" will open at the Y.M.C.A. Thursday night at 8 p.m. with about 100 boys from the junior and intermediate Y.M.C.A. groups participating.

The proceeds will be divided among the boys groups participating—to be used for summer camp scholarships, conferences expenses and other worthwhile boys' activities.

The program includes tumbling, acrobatics, magic, song and dance numbers and parallel bars, and is produced and directed by A. J. Hetherington, supervisor of boys' clubs, under the general supervision of W. Armour Bull, Edmonton Y.M.C.A. boys' work secretary.

Admission is open to the general public.

Former Residents Of Edmonton Are Sought by Police
Last known to have resided in Edmonton, Erick Wall and his wife, Anna Wall, were being sought Wednesday by the bureau of missing persons, city police department.

A request concerning the couple reached police from Mrs. Nina Nield, 217 South 26th avenue, West Duluth, Minn., and stated that Mr. Wall had relatives in Sweden and in United States who were anxious to contact him.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts, or having information concerning the above persons, are asked to communicate with city police.

Packard Foremen Go Out on Strike
DETROIT, May 4.—(AP)—Foremen employed on the night shift at the Packard Motor Company's plant walked out last night and a spokesman attributed the action to company failure to recognize the Foremen's Association of America, a bargaining unit despite the union's victory in an National Labor Relations Board election in February, 1943. There was no immediate statement from the company. Packard employs approximately 850 foremen, but only between 200 and 300 of them work on the night shift.

Bombs Straddle Sub

"Intuition Patrol" Leads To Attack on Nazi U-Boat

By F.L.T. LEN TILLEY, R.C.A.F.
Written for The Canadian Press
WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN BRITAIN, May 4.—(CP)—Returning from the Atlantic shipping lanes to be re-equipped at an enemy port, a Nazi U-boat would have succeeded in passing undetected had it not been for two Canadian airmen who sighted the submarine on one of what they call their "intuition patrols."

The Canadians, members of an R.A.F. coastal command Halifax crew, attacked the target with such accuracy that their bombs were seen to straddle the U-boat's conning tower. The attack was carried out by night, in the face of an intense flak barrage.

PO. George Owens of Toronto, a 23-year-old navigator and bomb-aimer in the crew, and the second pilot was 21-year-old PO. Frank J. Blush of Spruitwood, Sask.

Neither had attacked a submarine before although Owens was on his second tour of operations, and previously had completed no fewer than 14 anti-sub expeditions, while Blush had flown on 25 similar patrols.

The enemy targets, on both these occasions, were located and attacked while Owens, Blush and the rest of the R.A.F. crew were doing some "overline" flying. The U-boat could not be ascertained because the Halifax, 30 minutes after the attack, had used up all its extra fuel and had to head for base.

ENIGMAS OUT
The Halifax had no sooner started to make its bombing run over the target than its two port engines cut momentarily and the crew feared they would have to crash-land in the sea, but the motors picked up and they went in to bomb. Patrol was low so the crew headed for home without waiting to see what damage they had done.

SPEAKS IN DEBATE
He spoke during debate on second reading of the bill approving Canada's aid to the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration set up to provide food, medical care and clothing to refugees liberated from the enemy.

A poor crop might prevent Canada from fulfilling the food requirements which might be expected of her, said Senator Buchanan.

Canada might not have a wheat surplus at the end of this year, because crop prospects were poor. There had been little rain last autumn, little snow during the winter and little spring rain.

"We may not only have a small crop, but it may be necessary for us to raise our livestock to the market because of a lack of water," he said.

Such a development might prevent Canada from supplying what the fact that farmers were producing more with less help.

Senator Lambert said he did not think very much more could be done in Canada as far as food production was concerned.

He also stated that extension of rationing in Canada after the war should be considered. Britain and New Zealand had already indicated that rationing might be a means of supplying some food to the liberated nations. The food quota expected of Canada had not been set.

Food and pestilence might follow in the wake of the war if the food was not provided.

ACT OF CHARITY
Senator Cyrille Vallancourt (L.-Quebec), who attended the U.N.R.A. conference in Atlantic City last November, said that by supplying food to the liberated countries "we will be doing an act of charity to them and to ourselves."

By improving the health of the liberated peoples Canada would protect the health of her own peoples.

When the U.N.R.A. bill was given second reading, the senate adjourned until Thursday.

Parents Testify At Murder Trial

WINNIPEG, May 4.—(CP)—Parents of Edith Grace Cook, 18-year-old waitress, yesterday told a jury at the summer assizes finding the body of their daughter in a downtown hotel room, Dec. 4.

They testified at the trial of Albert V. Westgate, 43, charged with the strangling-slaying of the girl, whose body was found after a day-long search.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cook, told the court that Westgate had suggested they go to the hotel. He accompanied them.

"I saw Edith lying on the bed," said Mrs. Cook. "She was dead." Westgate looked at the body, said Mrs. Cook and cried.

"Edie, Edie, speak to me; tell me everything," Mr. Cook corroborated his wife's evidence, and added: "I stopped Westgate. I knew she was dead." Westgate served 14 years of a life sentence for the murder of a woman in suburban St. Vital in 1928. He was paroled in June, 1943.

Canada is paying half the cost of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan estimated at $1500,000,000, the United Kingdom pays the remainder less payments by New Zealand and Australia for the cost of training air crew.

Canuck Fliers in Near Crash

Mosquito Crew Sets New Record By Bagging Four Enemy Planes

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND. May 4.—(CP)—A Canadian Mosquito crew which set up a new record for intruder planes Tuesday night by destroying four German Focke-Wulf 190s more than 500 miles from the Canadian home base had a narrow escape from crashing after destroying the fourth German plane.

Hit by debris from the enemy plane, the Mosquito piloted by Sgt.-Ldr. R. A. (Bob) Kipp, Kamloops, B.C., with PO. P. Huletay of Montreal as navigator, stalled at 500 feet. Kipp, however, got the plane under control when just 100 feet from the ground and flew safely home.

FIND FIRST VICTIM
Taking off soon after dusk, the Canadians flew toward Munich, crossing enemy territory at tree-top height. They found the first victim over Ammer Lake, 20 miles south west of Munich.

The German plane was held in a searchlight beam and appeared to be participating in a night-flying exercise.

"I attacked from below and astern with a two-second burst," said Kipp. "It exploded and crashed."

"We then flew on to Gumburg where we found another Focke-Wulf 190 heading for an airfield. It had all its lights blazing and we closed in to 150 yards, again firing a two-second burst.

The Hun caught fire and crashed to the ground 1000 feet below where it burned itself out."

Thirty-five minutes later Huletay reported two more Focke-Wulf 190s firing in formation. Kipp closed in on the rear one and delivered another two-second burst.

The enemy disintegrated. Kipp then destroyed the other German.

Day and night our forces are delivering against our enemies the smashing blows that are pounding out the path to Victory.

The clipping at the left will give you some idea of the costs of such blows. It does not mention the original cost of the aircraft, of the 2,800 tons of bombs used, nor the cost of the losses inevitably associated with such an attack. Yet, day and night, by land and sea and air, such hammer blows must be continued until the final victory is won.

60,000 MEN HELPED IN RAID ON BERLIN
The London, Feb. 17.—Nearly 60,000 men were involved in the tremendous task of carrying out Tuesday night's raid on Berlin, history's greatest aerial assault.
One station, approximately 50 men were working on the ground for every bomb that got into the air.
It took 4,000 men about five hours to load the bombs.
Some 7,000 flying personnel were briefed for the raid.
The planes used well over 1,000,000 gallons of gasoline, many volumes of fuel for their hydraulic undercarriages, deicing systems and various other systems.
Among the advance chores were the preparation of 7,000 flying suits and the loading of 150,000 rounds of machine-gun ammunition.
